About MYA Conservatory

The history of Midwest Young Artists Conservatory (MYA Conservatory) is a story of a compelling mission, serendipity and hard work. The organization was founded in February of 1993 when a group of parents found rehearsal space at Lake Forest Country Day School and asked Founder and Director, Allan Dennis, to continue working with their children. The week after that organizational meeting, 55 students showed up for the first rehearsal. The students were divided in a Junior and Senior Orchestra, with quite a few of the older or more advanced students playing in both, a tradition of nurturing leadership that continues as a core value of our programs. It is an incredible accomplishment that the vision of these first parents and director has resulted in the premiere music ensemble program in the nation, housed in the beautifully transformed Old Stockade Building at Fort Sheridan.

MYA Conservatory reaches over 1,000 students from more than 74 cities in the metropolitan Chicago area, with students ranging in age from 2nd through 12th grades. In addition, MYA Conservatory now offers classes for early childhood development. MYA Conservatory strives to provide the highest quality music experience for young musicians nationwide. MYA Conservatory expects the best out of its students and provides a supportive and nurturing environment. It is a place where students are able to grow with their peers in a competitive, yet friendly atmosphere. MYA Conservatory has 9 youth orchestras, 3 chamber orchestras, more than 60 chamber music ensembles, 4 choral ensembles, 4 jazz big bands, numerous jazz combos, a wind symphony, early childhood music and movement classes, and music history, theory and composition classes. Students have the opportunity to travel abroad and to perform in major venues throughout Chicago and around the world. Leading the nation in chamber music instruction, MYA Conservatory graduates are accepted at the most selective conservatories, universities and colleges in the country.
